Governors State University reaches record enrollment in Fall 1985

A record enrollment has been reached at Governors State University during the Fall 1985 trimester.

Official enrollment figures show an 8.2 percent increase over the Fall 1984 trimester. The numbers also show a 6.2 percent increase over figures for Fall 1981, the previous record enrollment period.

"We are extremely pleased that increasing numbers of people are turning to Governors State University for their higher educational needs," said Dr. Leo Goodman-Malamuth II, university president. "I believe this record enrollment is a clear indication that more and more residents of the Chicago region are recognizing the quality instructional programs which Governors State University makes available to them."

The official enrollment report shows that undergraduate students at the university have increased by 16.5 percent in one year. In addition, it shows that the graduate student population at the institution has increased by 2.6 percent during the same period.

As an upper-division university within the Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities (BOG) system, Governors State offers only master's degree programs and the last two years of baccalaureate degree programs. All students attending the institution are commuters since no on-campus housing is available.

Other BOG schools are Chicago State University, Eastern Illinois University, Northeastern Illinois University and Western Illinois University.

The enrollment report shows that 5,326 students are attending classes at Governors

State during the current trimester. The figure is an increase of 405 persons from Fall 1984, and an increase of 780 students from Fall 1983.

Undergraduate enrollment has increased by 329 persons from Fall 1984 and by 387 persons since Fall 1983. The graduate enrollment has increased by 76 students from Fall 1984 and by 393 students since Fall 1983.

"Our efforts to accommodate the students' needs are paying off," Dr. Goodman-Malamuth said. "We are experiencing increases in day enrollments as a result of offering more classes during that period, and we are adding more and more students through the numerous off-campus courses and telecourses which we now offer. As we have responded to student needs regarding times and places, they have responded to us by enrolling in more classes. It's the type of relationship which should exist between institution and student, and a relationship which we hope to continue."

The most significant daytime increases have come in the on-campus undergraduate population which has grown to 1,045 students from 921 a year ago. Off-campus enrollments have seen the greatest gain among graduate students with 279 more enrolled for Fall 1985 over Fall 1984.

Manilow Sculpture Park color slides now available

In response to frequent requests from visitors to the Nathan Manilow Sculpture Park at Governors State University, the GSU Foundation announces the availability of a set of 34 four-color slides of the internationally famous park.

The Nathan Manilow Sculpture Park has been described by Alan Artner, Chicago Tribune art critic, as "a virtual model for all public art projects." It is supported by private contributions through the Governors State University Foundation, which owns 15 of the pieces as a permanent collection. The other six are on long-term loan to the foundation. They are sited on about 250 acres of the university's total of 752 acres of land, and are all within sight of the main university building.

Narrated tours of the park are conducted by a trained guide the third Thursday of each month at 12:15 p.m. There is no charge. The park is open to the public seven days a week for self-conducted tours.

The slide sets can be ordered by mail from the Governors State University Foundation, Governors State University, University Park, IL 60466, or by calling (312) 534-5368. The cost is $10.

Olympia Fields banker elected fourth president of GSU Foundation

An Olympia Fields banker has been elected fourth president of the Governors State University Foundation.

Donald L. Pizza, president of the First Suburban Bank of Olympia Fields, was selected for the post at the regular meeting of the Foundation's board of directors on Oct. 19. He has served as a director of the Foundation since November 1984.

Pizza succeeds James B. Lund as Foundation president. Lund, recently named as president of the First National Bank of Wilmette, served eight years in the president's post and will continue as a Foundation director.

"I am grateful to the board for this honor," Pizza said following his election. "I do not underestimate the challenge and the significance of this position."

"Governors State University is going to lead the south suburban region into the 21st century by being the hub of its cultural, business and social progress," he continued. "The Foundation's task is to attract ever increasing private investment in the university. We will succeed because in supporting the university we are building a future for south suburbia."

Pizza was named president of the First Suburban Bank in 1981 after serving as a bank director since 1975. In 1977, he became president of the Multi-National Investment Co. of Chicago after an 18-year term as president of the Anthony J. Pizza Food Products Corp. in Chicago Heights.

Currently, Pizza also serves as a member of the board of directors of South Suburban Hospital, as a director and officer of Cash Station Inc., and as a member of the Olympia Fields Country Club.

He attended Thornton Fractional High School and subsequently received a bachelor of arts degree in economics from Knox College.

Dr. Leo Goodman-Malamuth II, university president, welcomed Pizza to the Foundation presidency.

"I have served with Don Pizza on the board of the South Suburban Hospital," Dr. Goodman-Malamuth said. "I know that he will provide aggressive leadership to this board. He will be an eloquent and articulate spokesman for the university to which he is deeply committed. I extend a warm and grateful welcome to him."

Dr. Goodman-Malamuth also thanked Lund for his "many years of strong and loyal leadership" for the Foundation.

In addition to Pizza and Lund, 16 other persons were re-elected as Foundation directors. They include Chicago attorney Lewis Manilow, who will serve as vice president-at-large; David Barr, Matteson attorney, who will be secretary; and Olympia Fields public relations executive Robert Wolf, who serves as treasurer.

Others re-elected to the one-year terms were Carney Barr of the Amoco Corp., Susanne S. Bergeron of Mid America Media, Michael Blackburn of the Governors State University Alumni Association, Nancy Endres of Endres Financial Services Inc., Merlin Karlock of the Bon Vivant Country Club, and Jerry Kluck of C O Wire Co. Inc.

Also re-elected for another year were Sam Ogrizovich of The Investment Center Inc., Patrick Rea of the First National Bank of Chicago, Dr. William Rogge of the Governors State University faculty, John Saphir of the Riverdale Bank, Eugene Suppelsa of the Windy City South Union 76, Dr. Conrad Urban of South Suburban Hospital, and real estate consultant and appraiser Percy Wagner.

William H. Dodd, executive director of university advancement at Governors State, serves as chief executive officer of the Foundation. Two other university employees, Ginni Burghardt who is executive coordinator of alumni affairs and Thomas Stepke who is controller, serve the Foundation board as assistant secretary and assistant treasurer respectively.

Dodd said Pizza has scheduled a board meeting for Nov. 23 to begin fund raising plans for the coming year.

More information regarding the Governors State University Foundation may be obtained by contacting Dodd at (312) 534-5000, extension 2215.

Shakespeare's "Othello" coming to GSU

"Othello," William Shakespeare's classical tragedy, is coming to Governors State University on Nov. 15.

The university's Office of Student Life is sponsoring the National Shakespeare Company in this performance of the Bard's story about a man who was destroyed by passion and false friendship. The 8:15 Friday evening performance will be staged in the Governors State University Theatre.

The National Shakespeare Company of New York City has traveled throughout North America for 22 years, offering high caliber production of classical drama. It covers more than 35,000 miles a year and plays to more than 75,000 people. It is a self-contained troupe of actors and technicians with their own lights, sets and other paraphernalia necessary for a complete production.

"Othello" is the first of the 1985-86 Community Events Series offered by the Office of Student Life. Other programs in the series are Dick Gregory on Feb. 21; Chicago City Limits comedy group on April 4; and Outdoor Folkfest IX, featuring folksinger Livingston Taylor, on Aug. 15. Tickets are now available for either "Othello" or the series. General admission for individual programs is $4 in advance at the Governors State University cashier's office or $5 at the box office the evening of the performance. A season ticket for all four events is $12.

For further information, call (312) 534-5000, extension 2123.

Lowe elected V.P. of Illinois Association of Allied Health Professions

The dean of the College of Health Professions (CHP) at Governors State University has been elected vice president of the Illinois Association of Allied Health Professions (IAAHP).

Dr. John Lowe III, CHP dean since the college was established in April 1984, has been named to the post and will serve as chairperson for the IAAHP fall conference to be held Nov. 15 at the Holiday Plaza in Matteson.

"I am very pleased to represent a state organization with such a variety of interests and influences in the health professions," Dr. Lowe said. "The health care system is changing and the IAAHP enables its members to keep up-to-date by providing current information."

Lowe said the organization represents a "broad spectrum of interests in the health professions." In addition to individual members, the group includes organization members such as universities, community colleges, hospitals and professional organizations, he said.

John Lowe

Lowe, a native of Witt in southern Illinois, joined the faculty at Governors State in 1972 as a professor of communication disorders. He served as director of the School of Health Professions before that instructional area was given status as a separate college within the university.

As dean, he oversees academic programs in such disciplines as alcoholism sciences, communication disorders, health administration, health professions education, medical technology, nursing, and social work.

Lowe received the bachelor of science degree from Eastern Illinois University in 1964. He subsequently attended the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana where he received the master of arts degree in 1966 and the doctor of philosophy degree in 1969.

In addition to the IAAHP, he is a member of the American Society of Allied Health Professions and the American Speech-Language Hearing Association.

Before joining the Governors State staff, Dr. Lowe served as an assistant professor at Kansas State University for three years, as a research associate at the University of Illinois for one year, and as a speech pathologist at the Lincoln State School for one year.

Dr. Lowe and wife Sherry reside in Flossmoor with children John IV and Scott.

GSU Views opens fourth season — releases four new programs

GSU Views, a cable television talk show hosted by Dr. Leo Goodman-Malamuth II, president of Governors State University, opens its fourth season with the release of four new programs to be aired during October and November.

The season's first guests are Dr. Robert K. Hess III, university professor of education; Dr. Dominic Candeloro, continuing education coordinator in the Office of Conferences and Workshops; Dr. Anthony Wei, university professor of philosophy and history; and Dr. Paul O'Brien, university professor of accounting.

The half-hour program of conversation is carried by eight cable companies serving most communities throughout the southern and southwestern suburbs and others well into the northern area of Chicagoland.

O'Brien is an expert in tax matters and is a frequent speaker before business organizations. He and Goodman-Malamuth discuss the current economic condition of the nation and the area.

Hess' field of expertise lies in educational processes and methods. The conversation on this program centers around the statewide educational reform act and its relationship to reading skills.

Candeloro is deeply involved in the affairs of the Italian-American community in the Chicago area. He and Goodman-Malamuth discuss the Italian-American experience and other interethnic relationships.

Wei, a native of The People's Republic of China, spent much of this past summer in his native land. He covers much territory and many years in his conversation with the GSU president about modern-day China.

GSU Views is produced in the university's television studios as a public service. Director of the program is Tony Labriola, university professor of television production. Much of the technical work is handled by students as an educational experience.

The program is transmitted directly from GSU to Jones Intercable Channel 46 serving Park Forest. It is fed by direct cable to Centel

Cable Channel 37 serving Richton Park, Matteson, Flossmoor, Thornton, Lansing, Crete, University Park, Hazel Crest and Olympia Fields. It is delivered by messenger to Continental Cablevision Channel 22 serving 19 communities in various areas of the Chicago market; Jones Intercable Channel 4, Orland Park; Multimedia Cablevision Channel 10 in South Holland and Oak Lawn; Metrovision Channel 4 in Palos Hills, Worth, Hickory Hills, Crestwood, Midlothian, Blue Island and Posen; and Cablenet Channel 93 serving about a dozen communities in the northwest suburbs.

For specific schedules, check the local cable TV listings or call the local cable company.

Halley's Comet course scheduled at GSU

A short course on "Halley's Comet" is scheduled to be offered at Governors State University during the next few weeks.

The course is offered for one semester hour of college credit and is taught by Dr. J. Harvey Hensley, a professor of physics at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville.

"Halley's Comet" will be taught on the university's main campus from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Nov. 9 and 16.

The course may be taken for graduate or undergraduate credit, or for non-credit. Fees are $88 for graduate students, $84.50 for undergraduates, and $50 for non-credit participants.

Undergraduates must hold an associate's degree or have completed a minimum of 60 semester hours of college coursework with a grade point average of "C" or better. Graduate students must possess a baccalaureate degree.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Office of Conferences and Workshops (312) 534-5000, extension 2558.

Three research associates join R.E.N. staff at Governors State

Three research associates have been named to the Regional Employment Network staff at Governors State University.

Adrienne Jackson of Chicago will serve as community liaison person, Paul M. Johnson of Park Forest will be in charge of data processing, and Robert Norwood of Naperville will handle skills assessment.

Under the direction of Dr. Diane Kjos, the network will utilize $500,000 in special State of Illinois funding to assess skills of unemployed and under-employed workers in a region from the south of Chicago to northern Kankakee and from Joliet east to the Indiana border.

The legislation which established the funding designated Governors State University as the agency to conduct the pilot project of creating a computer data bank of information on employee skills available within the region. The information in turn is shared with potential employers.

Jackson previously served as a professional organizer for the Calumet Community Religious Conference. Earlier she had served as a senior customer service representative for Inland Steel Co., and as an employee of the general banking support services and the international banking departments at the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co.

She received the bachelor of science degree in business administration from the College of Business and Administration at Chicago State University in 1982. She later took graduate courses at the J.L. Kellogg Graduate School of Management at Northwestern University.

Johnson has been employed as a coordinator for the Macro Group since 1983. He earlier worked in computer operations for Sauk Steel Inc., as an environmental services technician for St. James Hospital, and as assistant plant manager for Iovite Chemicals Inc.

He currently is completing studies in business and management at Governors State.

Norwood has been a vocational coordinator for the Mark Mortensen Foundation in Chicago. He previously served as a project coordinator, educational coordinator, office manager and counselor, and planning manager for the Clark County Community Action Agency Inc. in Jeffersonville, Ind.

He holds the bachelor of science in education and the master of science in education degrees from Indiana University Southeast at New Albany.

Olympia Fields bank awards grant for string quartet concerts

For the second consecutive year, The First Suburban Bank of Olympia Fields has awarded a grant to the Governors State University Foundation to support off-campus concerts by the GSU String Quartet, according to a joint announcement by Donald Pizza, bank president, and William H. Dodd, chief executive officer of the foundation.

"Through the generosity of The First Suburban Bank, we will be able to send our professional string quartet into the community surrounding the university to play some of the world's most beautiful music," Dodd declares. "Last year, a similar grant supported about a dozen such concerts throughout the southern suburbs and extending into the northwest area of Chicagoland."

In announcing the grant, Pizza stated that he believes business must support the arts. "When the arts flourish, it gives a tremendous boost to the vitality and morale of a region. And there is significant evidence to indicate that businesses tend to expand in areas which have a firm commitment to the arts. We believe the Governors State University String Quartet is a major asset to the southern suburbs."

The members of the quartet are professional musicians well known in Chicago's musical circles. "Because they are highly trained artists, we sometimes find that potential sponsors believe they cannot afford the full professional fee. With this fund, we can negotiate a fee that fits their budgets," Dodd says.

Sponsors who have benefitted from the fund in the past include community colleges, private and state colleges and universities, public libraries, park districts, senior citizen residences, public schools and professional associations.

The foundation will consider requests on a first-come, first-served basis from organizations wishing to sponsor a concert off campus. For further information, call (312) 534-5000, extension 2122.

University's String Quartet opens concert series with Mozart, Janacek, Schubert

With the music of Mozart, Janacek and Schubert, the Governors State University String Quartet will open its 1985-86 series of free public concerts on Nov. 10 at 3:30 p.m. in the university's Music Recital Hall.

Violinists Steven Bjella and Stephanie Meis, violist Robert Shamo and cellist Alan Rostoker will open the program with "String Quartet in E Flat Major," K.160, by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. This work dates from the master's seventeenth year and represents a bridge from youth to maturity in the quartet form.

"String Quartet No. 2," by the Czech composer, Leos Janacek, is a Twentieth Century work. The composer subtitled it "Intimate Letters," because it reflects an unrequited love he had conceived during the latter part of his life for Kamilla Stosslova, a married woman. Janacek's own marriage was unhappy. The quartet was one of his last works before he died in 1928.

The final piece on the Sunday afternoon program is "String Quartet in A minor," Op. 29, by Franz Schubert. Unlike the Mozart work, this one is from the composer's mature period and is considered one of his finest compositions.

This is the seventh season for the professional string ensemble from Governors State. Since its founding in 1979, the quartet has played at least three free public concerts a year on the local campus. It also plays a benefit performance known as The President's Concert each year to raise funds for the GSU Foundation's Community College Scholarship Fund.

In addition, in recent years, the musicians have played before a dozen or more audiences a season at locations throughout the southern suburbs and well into the northern section of Chicagoland. So far this year, the quartet has performed at Kankakee Community College and the Flossmoor home of Erna Salm as part of the Homewood-Flossmoor Park District art series. It is available for such appearances through a grant from The First Suburban Bank of Olympia Fields to the GSU Foundation.

The Governors State University String Quartet played its first outdoor recital when it entertained the guests at the reception for the opening of the one-man show of steel fabricated sculptures by Canadian Artist Jeffrey Rubinoff. The event was part of Governors State's Festival of the Arts during National Art Week in September. The quartet will present its first full-length, free public concert of the season on campus on Nov. 10.

The members of the String Quartet are professional musicians active in the Greater Chicago musical community. Bjella is a member of Chicago Camerata and a number of other Chicago area orchestras and ensembles. He has been heard in recital over WFMT-FM Chicago. He is a resident of Chicago Heights.

Violinist Stephanie Meis, Flossmoor, performs with the Chicago String Ensemble and several other orchestras and chamber groups in the area. She studied at Oberlin Conservatory and in Montreaux, Switzerland, under Zino Francescatti and Christian Feras. She also studied with Pierre Menard and Shmuel Ashkenasi of the Verneer Quartet.

Shamo, of Lombard, is coordinator of the string program at DePaul University. He is a long-time member of the Grant Park Symphony and serves as principal violist with the orchestra of the Chicago City Ballet.

Rostoker is a member of the resident orchestras at Arie Crown Theater and Schubert Theater. He is just finishing a long run with the hit musical "Cats," and soon will be heard in the traditional holiday performances of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker."

Parking at GSU is free for this concert.

Current Creative Woman focuses on "Mother and Daughter"

"Of Mothers and Daughters" is the theme of the current edition of The Creative Woman, a magazine with a feminist perspective published by Governors State University.

In the process of collecting the material for this edition, says Dr. Helen Hughes, editor, "We have realized how troubled and troubling the relationship between mothers and daughters has become. In times of transition and change, human relationships are vulnerable to the stresses and shocks that attend the times," the Governors State psychology professor says in the introduction to the issue.

In the lead article, "Passing On of Mothercraft," Terri Schwartz, another professor of psychology at the university, puts forth her latest theoretical concept of motherhood as a craft. Lynn Strauss, former managing editor of the magazine, writes about raising three daughters and a son during changing times. Linda Steiner, a professor of journalism at GSU, reports on her research on women who become single mothers by choice.

Ellen Dohner addresses the tragic dilemmas of abortion choices. Dohner is the minister of the Unitarian-Universalist Community Church in Park Forest. Beth A. Bailey, a freelance writer from Hanover, N.H., contributes a short story titled "Threads" about a suffocating mother-daughter relationship and the daughter's way of liberation.

There are numerous other shorter articles, several poems and four book reviews.

The theme of the next issue of The Creative Woman will be "Women of China." Guest editor will be Madam Li, editor of the monthly Women of China magazine published in Beijing.

The Creative Woman is published three times a year under the auspices of the Provost's Office of Governors State University. It is available at selected feminist bookstores and by subscription by writing to the publication at Governors State University, University Park, IL 60466.

Thirty-three qualify for 1985 - 1986 Alumni Academic Awards

Thirty-three persons have been selected to receive Alumni Academic Awards at Governors State University for 1985-86.

The awards are presented annually by the Governors State University Alumni Association.

According to Ginni Burghardt, executive coordinator of alumni relations, recipients will receive a $300 scholarship to use over a two-trimester period of study at the university. Each must be enrolled for a minimum of nine credit hours.

To qualify for the award, the 33 scholarship winners had to maintain a grade point average (GPA) of 3.75 on a 4.0 scale for their previous college studies. Funds for the scholarship were part of monies donated by alumni during the annual fund raising campaign, Burghardt said.

Park Forest rabbi is instructor for Governors State telecourse

Park Forest Rabbi Minard Klein will serve as instructor for a telecourse on "Heritage, Civilization and the Jews" offered by Governors State University during the current trimester.

The nine-segment telecourse contains 60-minute programs on the topics of "A People Is Born," "The Power of the Word," "The Shaping of Traditions," "The Crucible of Europe," "The Search for Deliverance," "Roads from the Ghetto," "The American Jewish Experience," "Out of the Ashes," and "Into the Future."

The classes are available for viewing through various regional cable television outlets and at the university library.

Rabbi Klein was elected to the pulpit at Congregation Beth Shalom in 1959. He was made Rabbi for Life in 1975.

A native of Kansas City, he received the bachelor of arts degree from the University of Kansas City in 1947. He subsequently attended the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati where he received bachelor and master degrees in Hebrew letters in 1949 and 1952 respectively. He also was ordained a rabbi in 1952.

Following ordination he served as associate rabbi at Temple Beth El in Detroit for four years and as rabbi of Temple Beth El in Hollywood, Fla., for two years.

In 1958 he received a one-year appointment as a research fellow in the American Jewish Archives at Hebrew Union College.

Prior to his collegiate career, Rabbi Klein served a four-year term with the U.S. Army. He served in the Pacific Theatre with the 155th Station Hospital from 1942 to 1945 and was awarded two combat stars and a Presidential Unit Citation.

In 1977, the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion awarded the doctor of divinity degree to Rabbi Klein. He received the Award of Honor of the Anti-Defamation League in 1981.

Further information regarding the telecourse and registration information may be obtained by contacting Joyce Newman at the university's Office of Special Programs and Continuing Education, (312) 534-5000, extension 2121.

Theology for Lunch series slates speakers for November

Four speakers have been scheduled during November for the Tuesday noon series of discussions known as Theology for Lunch, according to the Rev. Joseph Stalzer of Campus Ministries at Governors State University.

On Nov. 5, the Rev. Tom Gray, pastor of Pilgrimage Protestant Congregation of University Park, will discuss "Are You Running with Me, Jesus: Running and the Physical Fitness Craze."

Pastor Tyrone Boyd, Beacon of Joy

Seventh Day Adventist Church, Chicago, will talk about "Youth in a Changing Society: The Effects of Contemporary Lifestyle on College-age Young People" on Nov. 12.

"India: Christian-Muslim Dialogue" will be the topic on Nov. 19. The discussion leader will be Ms. Maureen Donnelly, of the Lay Missionary Voluntary Movement, Chicago.

The final program of the month, on Nov. 26, will be a discussion on "Maternal Bereavement: Grief Over Infant Loss." The leader will be Mrs. Janet Green, editorial assistant for The Creative Woman magazine published by Governors State University.

The public is invited free to Theology for Lunch. If participants wish to eat lunch during the program, they can bring their own or stop at the university cafeteria on the way to room B1109.

Five elected to Alumni Association Board

Five persons have been elected to terms on the board of directors of the Governors State University Alumni Association.

According to Ginni Burghardt, executive coordinator of alumni relations, board members are elected to represent graduates of each of the university's four colleges, and to represent persons who have received baccalaureate degrees through the Board of Governors (BOG) degree program.

Christina Pierce of Flossmoor was elected

Christina Pierce

to a two-year term as representative of the College of Business and Public Administration (CBPA). She is employed as an accountant of the Homart Development Co. and received the bachelor of arts degree in 1984.

Elected to a two-year term as representative of the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) was Mary Bulliner of Bourbonnais, an advertising manager and production editor for BOCA International. She is also a reading-writing tutor at the university's Center for

Mary Bulliner

Lee Burklund

Learning Assistance. Bulliner received the master of arts degree in 1981.

Re-elected to a two-year term as representative of the College of Education (CE), Pamela Hilligoss Woodward of Chicago Heights received a master of arts degree in 1977. A stockbroker with Dean Witter Reynolds Inc., she also serves as a member of the Governors State adjunct faculty.

Lee Burklund of Oak Lawn was reelected to a two-year term as representative of the College of Health Professions (CHP). A speech-language pathologist for the South Metropolitan Association for Low Incidence Handicapped, she is a 1984 recipient of the master of health science degree.

The board also appointed Thomas G. Brown of Chicago to a one-year term as representative of the BOG program. A teacher with the Chicago Board of Education, Brown received the bachelor of arts degree in 1984.

A total of 16 persons serve on the association's board.

Student film series offers variety of fare

Five movies, representing widely different forms of the art, are booked for the 1985-86 free film series sponsored by the Film and Video Society, a student organization at Governors State University.

The movies will be shown in room F1200 the first floor of the College of Arts and Sciences wing of Governors State. Starting time for the Friday night features is 7 p.m. The public is invited.

"The Purple Rose of Cairo," Woody Allen's latest directorial effort, is scheduled for Nov. 22. Gene Siskel, Chicago Tribune critic, declares that "what Allen has done with 'The Purple Rose of Cairo' is create a classic film about our love affair with fantasy. (It is) one of the finest movies about the movies ever made." Roger Ebert, Chicago Sun-Times, states, "It took me a day or two, after I'd seen it, to realize how deeply Allen has reached this time." The movie was released earlier this year.

The offering on Jan. 24, "Breaker Morant," has been called "perhaps the best of the new highly acclaimed Australian cinema."

Charlie Chaplin's classic "Gold Rush" heads a double bill on Feb. 28. The second feature is "Pay Day" a 1973 film starring Rip Torn and Alma Capri. It is the tale of life on the road with a country singer, played by Torn.

The final show of the series on March 28 is "Amarcord," lauded by New York Times critic, Vincent Canby, as "possibly. . . Federico Fellini's most marvelous film." Time magazine says, "It represents some of the finest work Fellini has ever done—which also means it stands with the best that anyone in films has ever achieved." In addition to the free admission, there will be free popcorn.
